We take pride in being the premier high-end deal toy company and it shows in the quality of our pieces and customer service. Good communication and relationships are what make these results possible. We strive to achieve that with every project we take on.

We have more than two decades of experience servicing the most powerful dealmakers in the industry and a deep understanding of the complex needs of bulge-bracket, middle-market, and boutique financial institutions.

DEAL TOYS

Deal toys, also known as financial tombstones or deal gifts, play a significant role in the finance industry as symbolic commemorations of major transactions, such as mergers, acquisitions, and initial public offerings. These customized tokens, often made of crystal, metal, or wood, serve as tangible representations of a company's achievements, fostering a sense of pride and camaraderie among deal team members.

Deal toys also function as marketing tools, showcasing a firm's expertise and track record to clients and prospects. Furthermore, they provide a lasting reminder of a company's milestones, milestones that can motivate and inspire future generations of professionals. Deal toys have become an enduring tradition in the finance industry, encapsulating the spirit of collaboration, innovation, and success that drives business forward.
