

Society Awards builds a beautiful LSX Trophy for their new facility

---

 lumossolar.com/2018/05/society-awards

May 9, 2018

When Society Awards, makers of the Golden Globe and Emmy Awards, decided to add solar to their new production facility, they worked with their architect Joe Jattuso of JATTUSO Architecture to design a unique shaded area using the LSX Module System. With LSX, Jattuso was able to mount modules vertically as well as overhead to create a continuous, weatherproof cover that blends perfectly with their modern design for the building.

Lumos product made it easy to create something that fit perfectly with our design and meet our goals for solar energy at the same time. We could not be any happier with the end result.